Reliable News Now Tricking Through Show First Reports Not to Have Been Exaggerated

MILLION DOLLAR LOSS ESTIMATED

Townpeople Thought Coast Was Sinking and That the End Had Come for Them All

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 22.—The first reliable estimate of the damage caused along the southern coast of the Burin Peninsula on Monday night by the tidal wave which followed upon the earthquake began trickling in today. The property loss will not be less than a million dollars, Mr. George Bartlett, a merchant in the town of Burin, said today. He came here heading a delegation of citizens seeking government aid for the stricken fishing villages of the wave-swept districts.

BOAT UP IN AIR
Mr. Bartlett said he was on board a boat tied up at the Burin dock when the wall of water rushed down the narrow rock-bound inlet. There was a mighty roar, a swirl of spray and suddenly the vessel was lifted high into the air. Mr. Bartlett ran out on deck and saw that the boat had been carried several feet above the dock.

A store he kept alongside the wharf was washed away and carried into a field yards away from the waterfront. Several other stores from help came out of the night from all sides of him.

TOWNSPEOPLE FRANTIC
Frantically the townspeople ran about in the darkness, vainly seeking companions who had been torn from them by the water. The scene was appalling, he said, and the unfortunate ones along the waterfront, believing the coastline was sinking, feared the end was near for them. The death list among the devastated section of the coast is still continued on Page 2, Column 6

Gets Lashes and Prison Term for Alberta Robbery

EDMONTON, Nov. 22.—Described by police as one of the "toughest" characters with whom they have had to deal in recent years, Frank Mikota, twenty-three, was sentenced to serve three years in the Prince Albert penitentiary, and, in addition, to twenty strokes of the lash, ten during the first year and ten during the last, by Magistrate Primrose in the city police court this morning. He was charged with robbery while armed, and appeared jointly with John Barclay, twenty-one, who received two years, less one day, at the Fort Saskatchewan jail.

BOY MIGRANT PROBLEM HAS EXAMINATION

Dominion and Provincial Colonization Commissioners Confer Here on British Boy Movement

JOINT EFFORT IS CONTEMPLATED

Mr. W. R. Little, Dominion Commissioner of Colonization, was in the city yesterday, and conferred with Dr. Gaddes, Provincial Colonization Commissioner, on the question of working out the details of the British boy movement. This scheme, which was endorsed by the Provincial Department of Agriculture some little time ago, looks to the placing of youths from the Old Country on farms in the province to receive training in this line.

It is being worked out in most of the other provinces of Canada with success. The Dominion and the British Government lend their assistance to the enterprise, and under the plan the province will also aid. The latter's contribution will not be heavy in a financial way, but will look to taking supervision in co-operation with the others concerned in the plan.

After the boys have been from fourteen to eighteen months engaged in working on farms in the country, they are then encouraged and aided in taking up a farm for themselves, leaving in the preceding time saved $500.

Mr. Little left for Seattle in the afternoon. He makes regular inspections of the work carried on under the scheme in different provinces.

Col. Ralph Webb Again Mayor for Winnipeg City

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22.—With the slogan "New Blood for the City Council" and "It's Time for a Change," the Civic Progress Association, a new force in civic politics, with Lieut.-Col. R. H. Webb at its head as mayoral candidate, swept victory in the city election held today.

Colonel Webb, in an election conducted under the system of proportional representation, was swept into office on a landslide of ballots while, though the count was far from complete, the slate of aldermanic nominees of the association seemed assured of success. The first count brought victory to Colonel Webb over Mr. Marcus Hyman, barrister and Independent Labor nominee, and Col. Dan McLean, veteran mayor of Winnipeg, who sought re-election after two terms in the mayoral chair.

With returns complete from the 236 subdivisions, the vote was Webb, 21,569; Hyman, 12,804; and McLean, 7,305.

It will be Colonel Webb's fourth term as chief magistrate of Winnipeg. For his progressiveness in civic affairs, he has gained an international reputation, being well known throughout Canada and in the United States.

Mont Pelee Again Erupts and Shows Threatened Danger

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, Nov. 22.—Burning ash and sulphuric gases today prevented anyone from approaching Mont Pelee, which has been increasingly active during the past few days. The eruption of ash and cinders has some times reached an altitude of 12,000 feet and has continued for several periods.

GREAT FIRES RAVAGING IN CALIFORNIA

More Than Dozen Blazes Sweep Through Towns, Making Hundreds of People Homeless

CALL OUT TROOPS TO AID FIGHTERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—More than a dozen fires, one of which has reduced practically the whole of the coast town of Monterey to ashes, were burning throughout Northern California tonight. So serious has the situation become in San Mateo County, where three blazes swept onward out of control near Sunset, that a detail of 150 troops were rushed down the peninsula to aid the hundreds on the fire lines.

Half of Monterey was in ruins. More than twenty houses being reported destroyed. Red Cross workers were sent from this place to aid the homeless.

A pall of smoke blanketed the town where damage has been conservatively estimated at more than $25,000.

FLED IN NIGHT CLOTHES
So sudden was the onslaught early today of fire at Monterey that residents were forced to flee their homes in night clothes, leaving their belongings to the flames.

The blaze had burned intermittently during the week and was thought under control, but apparently was reawakened by a high wind.

The fire which had burned to the edge of Pescadero, was driven back into the hills, and was reported racing toward Chicken Hollow, three miles from the San Mateo memorial forest. The town of La Honda was also in the path of the blaze.

CANDIDATE IS RETIRING FROM TRUSTEE RACE

MR. C. H. McMILLAN

Mr. C. H. McMillan, 1751 Haultain Street, who early this week announced his candidature for a seat on the City School Board, yesterday informed The Colonist of his withdrawal from the contest this year.

"Owing to unforeseen circumstances, over which I have no control, I am unable to be a candidate for the School Board or any other civic office at the forthcoming election. When I stated a few days ago that I would be a candidate, I firmly intended to run, but now I must

PARTY HEADS ARE ROUTED TO MEETING

Whole Day at Kamloops Will Be Occupied in British Columbia Conservative Association Gathering

MANY ISSUES ARE UNDER REVIEW

Memory of Great Convention in Inland City Three Years Ago Stimulates Interest in Cause

(By Staff Representative)
VANCOUVER, Nov. 22.—On the eve of the anniversary of a most important day in the annals of the Conservative party in British Columbia, practically all the members of the Government and their supporters in the Legislature, together with a stalwart body representative of the party on the evening of November 22, 1926. The party then left divided on the question of leadership. It was expecting a provincial election.

In three sleepers attached to the Imperial Limited, C.P.R. eastbound train, the coast delegates started at 9 o'clock. At Kamloops, which will be reached at 4:35, tomorrow morning, the cars will be dropped, and remain until picked up at midnight by the westbound train.

AN ANNIVERSARY
Today is the third anniversary of the day when the great mass of representative Conservatives left for what has since become famous under the name of the "Kamloops Convention," on the evening of November 22, 1926. The party then left divided on the question of leadership. It was expecting a provincial election.

The history of that convention is well known. There was evolved from the doubt and division among the delegates a solution of the difficulties, and the convention closed with a united party behind Hon. S. F. Tolmie, then a member of the House of Commons, who was prevailed upon to accept the leadership of the party in British Columbia.

Future events proved the wisdom of the choice. Three years have passed, and the Conservatives, under Tolmie's leadership, have won a sweeping victory at the polls, and the Government then formed is now entrenching itself in the confidence of the electorate and bringing about a better condition of affairs.

FORTUNATE COINCIDENCE
The annual meeting was therefore well chosen, both from the standpoint of the place and the date. Kamloops will long have a vivid effect upon supporters of the Conservative cause. November 23 is a date to conjure with in the party calendar.

A provincial election is a long way off. A Dominion election is not so far away, and before another annual meeting it is quite possible that a new party will be called in Dominion affairs.

In this field the party has an enviable position, as far as British Columbia is concerned. Outside of a clean sweep of the province it would be hard to improve its standing. The party, however, has set its heart on winning the province for Conservatism at the next election for the House of Commons. The delegates to the convention will be in Kamloops early tomorrow morning, ready to enter upon their work with Mr. C. M. O'Brien, K.C., the president, in the chair. The business must be carried along without delay to dispose of it all during the one day, which will be devoted to it.

Late tomorrow night the delegates will again entrain, and make the return trip as they did the east-bound one, during sleeping hours. They will thus be back in their places again during Sunday all ready for business next week.

TWO distinguished guests will be entertained by the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, at a special luncheon to be given at noon on Monday in the new wing of the Empress Hotel. They are Mr. A. E. Warren, vice-president of Canadian National Railways, and Col. T. A. Hiam, assistant to the president, Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Warren was formerly Western general manager of the company, and has been recently appointed a vice-president. Colonel Hiam is the personal representative of Sir Henry Thornton, and is in charge of the executive offices in Vancouver.

WORLD IS NOT PREPARED FOR DISARMAMENT

Mr. Kellogg Tells Pilgrims He Wants Renunciation of War With Reduction of Armaments

INFLUENTIAL MEN HEAR PEACE TALK

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Mr. Frank B. Kellogg, former American Secretary of State, emerged from private life to receive the homage of the Pilgrims' Society tonight and to urge reduction in armaments and sea forces of the world sufficient to prevent their use for anything but national protection. "In my judgment one of the most important problems now confronting the nations," he told the distinguished members of the society, who have as a purpose increasing British-American friendship, "is the question of reduction and limitation of armaments. I say reduction and limitation because, however ideal complete disarmament might be, we must look at these reforms from a practical standpoint. The world is not yet ready for disarmament."

INDUCEMENT TO WAR
"Competitive building inevitably is a great inducement to war. No treaty which provides for or contemplates an increase of armament will meet the situation. "No one or two nations are going to be able to dominate the world," Mr. Kellogg went on. "The control of the seas is now an impossible dream. The security of the world can only be obtained by mutual consideration, confidence and the advancement of pacific settlement of disputes."

Union Ss. Is Aground Near Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT, Nov. 22.—The coastal steamer Cardena, of the Union Steamship Company, of Vancouver, ran aground opposite North Pacific near here shortly after 7 o'clock tonight. The vessel is thought to have stranded on a gravel bar, but details are not available. Two vessels, the Salvage Princess and Pachena, have left here to take off the passengers and mails. The Cardena was en route to Vancouver from this port. Her cargo included a salmon shipment of 1,700 cases. The vessel grounded on a falling tide.

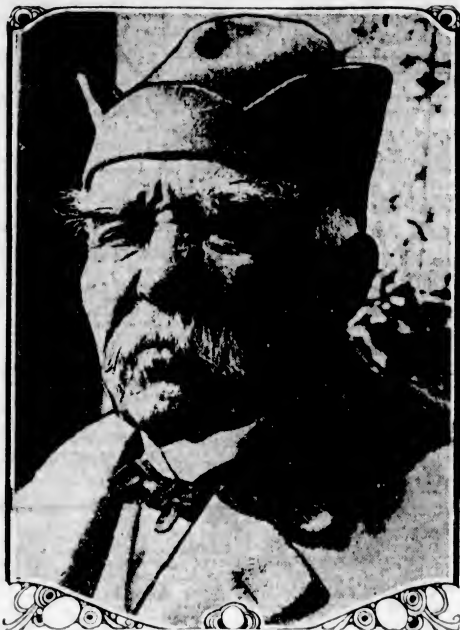

TWO MEN INJURED IN BOILER BURST

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—Two men were rushed to hospital today, one seriously injured, following an explosion of a boiler in the plant of the Barrett Company of Canada. John Mowat, Toronto, was blown almost fifty feet by the blast, and is suffering from severe burns and a badly injured back. J. W. Jackson, Toronto, is suffering from face and body burns.

EXPRESS HOLD-UP IS MUCH EXAGGERATED

BELGRADE, Nov. 22.—Reports that the Singapur Orient express had been held up by bandits, and two of its passengers killed while the remainder were robbed, proved today to be greatly exaggerated. While the train was still in Jugoslavian territory yesterday, approaching the frontier station of Tzaribrod, it was fired on by bandits, who were believed to be Bulgarians. Train guards returned the fire of the brigands, who were driven off without bloodshed on either side.

Dying Gladiator of France

M. GEORGES Clemenceau, affectionately known to his fellow countrymen as "The Tiger," the world-famous wartime Premier of France. Again stricken with illness, his physicians hold out no hope for his recovery. For some months he has been in ill health, but his determination to finish a work on which he has been engaged has given him strength to resist disease and death. During the war no man played a more prominent part in world as well as French movements, and he will always be regarded as the savior of his country at a time of her greatest need.

Provinces Should Provide Better Accommodation for Treatment of Drug Addicts

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—A number of important resolutions dealing with the medical situation in Canada were endorsed by the third conference on medical services, arranged by the Canadian Medical Association, held today.

DRUG ADDICTS
One followed the lines of the suggestion advanced yesterday by Dr. A. S. Perry, deputy minister of national health, deploring the lack of accommodation in Canada for the treatment of drug addicts. It suggested that the Provincial Governments amend their hospital acts in such a way as to make provision for the care and treatment of drug addicts in such institutions.

Another resolution endorsed the suggestion that with respect to the treatment of sick mariners, the Federal Government should impose a tax on vessels sufficient to defray hospital, medical and nursing costs.

The average age of the doctors in Canada is forty-four years, declared Dr. O. H. Harvey Agnew, of Toronto, who presented an interim report in medical survey of Canada.

DOCTORS' LIVING WAGE
From a material point of view, the doctors believed themselves to be earning "a fair living" although 14.5 per cent. of them communicated with did not think so. Rural Alberta and the cities of Ontario and British Columbia apparently gave the doctors an indifferent livelihood compared with others parts of Canada.

One-third of the physicians found themselves lacking in hospital accommodation and the deficiency was most noticeable in Vancouver, rural Alberta and Saskatchewan.

PROTEST AGAINST AID BY STATE FOR ALIEN IMMIGRANTS

EDMONTON, Nov. 22.—Strong objection to assisted immigration from other countries until such time as Canadian citizens were given the same assistance to establish themselves on the land, was voiced at the convention of Alberta Municipal Districts here this morning.

The objection took the form of a resolution which, after setting out that agricultural over-production is now becoming a vital question, urged discontinuance of assisted immigration until Canadian citizens are given the same measure of aid to get on to the land.

May Have Chance To Make Return To Parliament

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Sir Arthur Steel Maitland, Minister of Labor in the former Baldwin Ministry, and defeated in the general elections, gets a chance to re-enter Parliament through a by-election in Tamworth, Warwickshire, necessitated by the retirement of Sir Edward Hille. Polling is on December 3.

Sir Arthur today was officially nominated as Conservative candidate and Mr. O. Horwill was nominated by the Labor Party.

All France Waiting With Sympathy for News From the Bed of the Dying Great Statesman

PHYSICIANS HOLD NO FURTHER HOPE

Is Wracked With Terrible Pains but His Unfailing Courage Helps Him to Bear Agonies

PARIS, Nov. 23.—At 5:20 a.m. Clemenceau was still holding his own against death which had threatened for hours. No summons had been sent for his doctors up until that time.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The condition of M. Georges Clemenceau, wartime Premier of France, was described by Dr. Degennes early today as still most critical, but he considered the patient might pull through the night. Last evening the physicians had said that the situation was practically hopeless, that the "Tiger of France" was dying. After an hour's consultation with two other physicians, summoned to the bedside last night, Dr. Degennes said that M. Clemenceau had obtained slight relief from the uremia which he had suffered for two days and which was a dangerous drag on his heart action.

MAY LIVE THE NIGHT

Despite his belief that M. Clemenceau might live out the night, Dr. Degennes disclosed that the mid-night examination had shown that the uremic poison was gradually spreading through the whole system. Death, he said, was thus merely a question of hours. As the danger of heart collapse lessened with the decrease in the terrible pain which had wracked the aged man for nearly forty-eight hours, the more insidious danger of uremic poisoning increased. Physicians had been able to strengthen the heart by injections, but the chances of their checking the spread of the poison was slight.

The eighty-eight-year-old statesman's marvelous courage helped him stifle any expression of pain while he was conscious, but he moaned and cried out during his intermittent spells of unconsciousness. "I am suffering atrociously in my intestines," he told Dr. Degennes in a matter of fact tone, without a hint of self pity. Then he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Clemenceau's dying agony has roused the city of Paris. Any political ill feelings left from the Tiger's tempestuous career seem to have vanished and the eyes of his countrymen are fixed in complete sympathy on the modest ground floor apartment of "Père de la Victoire" (Father of Victory), in the Rue Franklin.

DIRECTORS OF B.C. ELECTRIC STUDY SERVICE

Buses Will Be Introduced in Victoria If Report of Operating Officials Is Encouraging

NO DECISION IS MADE, HOWEVER

An investigation is being made by the B.C. Electric Railway Company, Mr. A. T. Goward, vice-president, said yesterday afternoon, with regard to the proposal to introduce several forty-two passenger buses into Victoria to supplement the street railway schedules on streets where the service does not at present reach.

No decision on the subject has been reached, the vice-president said, but data is being gathered by the operating department as to cost, type of bus, and needs of the district, the directors feeling that as a transportation company, with the success on the Kingsway service between Victoria and Nanaimo, and the new Westminister, consideration should also be given to the Island. If the company decides to adopt the system, the buses to be introduced will be used either to supplement existing street railway routes, or to branch out into newer subdivisions upon which building has taken place since the street railway ceased to extend its lines after motor transportation became an effective competitor to traffic.

TITLED OWNERS WORK FARMS IN ALBERTA WELL

Prince of Wales, Duke of Sutherland, Earl of Minto, Earl of Egmont and Others Grow Crops

ALL OPERATE IN PRACTICAL WAY

EDMONTON, Nov. 22.—Six titled Brits own, between them, some fifteen thousand acres of Alberta farm lands, having an assessed value of approximately $110,000. Of these, the Duke of Sutherland owns the largest holdings, and pays the most in taxes.

The Duke of Sutherland, the Sutherland Land Company, the Sutherland-Canada Land Company, own between them, 9,202 acres. Earl Minto is the second largest holder, with 1,908 acres. He is closely followed by the Prince of Wales, whose famous E.P. ranch consists of 1,668 acres.

In addition to this, however, the Prince leases another 1,440 acres, so that his total holdings are 3,008 acres, which brings him, actually, into second place.

Lord Cheylesmore has 1,380 acres to his name in Alberta, and Lord Rodney 618 acres. The Earl of Egmont still holds 320 acres near Pelly, in Southern Alberta.

The Duke of Sutherland and the Sutherland companies bearing his name pay the largest amount of taxes, the assessment on the combined holdings being $57,000 in round figures.

PRINCE ASSESSED ON $15,170
Earl Minto is assessed on a valuation of $16,800, and the Prince of Wales, $15,170. Lord Rodney and Cheylesmore also are assessed in considerable sums for their holdings.

Of the holdings of the Duke of Sutherland, 6,187 acres are held under the Sutherland-Canada Land Company, and are located near Brooks, in Southern Alberta, the lands being irrigated.

The Duke has, in addition, 2,055 acres of land near Brooks, under his own name, while the Sutherland Land Company holds some 960 acres along the south side of Red Deer River, eighteen miles south and west of Red Deer, and five miles north and west of Innisfail.

Earl Minto's holdings of 1,908 acres are situated about five miles southwest of Nanaimo, while the Prince of Wales' E.P. Ranch of 1,668 acres, is located in the foothills country along the Pekisko Creek about twenty-three miles west of Nanaimo.

The Prince's leased lands are immediately adjoining, giving him a fairly extensive ranch over which to range the blooded stock for which the E.P. name is already famous.

Lord Cheylesmore's 1,380-acre ranch is at Happy Valley, where he also has built up a name for pure bred horses.

Lord Rodney's 618 acres are in the Port Saskatchewan settlement, about four miles north of the town, and on the west side of the river. All types of Alberta farming are withdraw from the field," Mr. McMillan declared.

Mr. McMillan expressed appreciation of the many friends who urged him to seek school trustee honors, and the many offers of support at the polls which were promised him.

"It is my intention, however, to be a candidate a year from now, for either the City Council or the School Board," said Mr. McMillan, who is a brother of Trustee J. S. McMillan, a member of the present board.

With Mr. C. H. McMillan's retirement from the field there remain to date only three aspirants in the field for the School Board in the persons of Trustee J. S. McMillan, who is seeking re-election; Mr. Percival E. George, and Captain F. R. Wright. Trustee McMillan is completing his first two-year term as a school trustee.

There will be four seats on the School Board to be filled by the electors of Victoria on December 12, which is polling day. The four retiring members are Trustees J. L. Beckwith, Alexander Peden, Arthur C. Pike and J. S. McMillan. Trustees Pike and Peden are aldermanic aspirants. Trustee Beckwith has 20,338, a decrease of 3 per cent when compared with the last election, but he is a candidate for re-election or not.

Dr. Kelvin Burns, of the Allegheny Observatory, next took up the Einstein prediction that the analysis of light from the sun through a spectroscopic lens would show a uniform shift of all absorption lines toward the red end of the spectrum. After asserting that the modern spectroscopic with an accuracy of three parts in 10,000,000, was a nearly ideal instrument for observing the validity of any finely organized theory, he presented, from his own records and the records of observers who have reported Einstein's verification, a variable, instead of a uniform shift of all spectrum lines toward the red end, with some lines not shifted at all.

Dr. R. H. Morgan, of the United States Naval Observatory, took the third field in which Einstein's relativity is popularly believed to have been successfully applied, and which is cited as an indication of its universality. As the planet Mercury revolves around the sun, its orbit almost imperceptibly shifts. This precession of the perihelion of Mercury, according to the relativists, is completely explained by Einstein.

Dr. Morgan called attention, however, to equally exceptional behavior by the planets Venus and Mars, as fully tabulated by astronomers as the motions of Mercury, and then observed that the Einstein theories apparently were not applicable to them.

Professor Poor injected that Einstein really hit upon the proper rate for the precession of Mercury "through a mathematical error in his original paper, and examination of that paper now in the files of the Academy of Sciences in Berlin will show that his error rose from his ignorance of astronomical usages in computation."

A defence of Einstein was entered by Dr. W. F. G. Swann, of the Bartol Research Foundation. "That relativity demonstration of the motion of Mercury," he said, "has been repeated year after year in the class rooms of universities throughout the world, and nobody has previously undertaken to point out that it was wrong."

Professor Poor shrugged his shoulders. Two listeners among 400 scientists present rose to join Dr. Swann, saying in substance that so many scholars who now accept relativity could not all be wrong.

That shows the super-gullibility of the Einstein enthusiasts," another replied, and was generally applauded.

THEORIES OF EINSTEIN ARE NOT VERIFIED

Four Eminent Scientists Agree in Doubting Correctness of Celebrated "New Mathematics"

ALLEGED PROOFS ARE IMAGINARY

A concerted, critical scrutiny of the Einstein theories of relativity was made by four American scientists, of such eminence that they were at the time at Cornell University by invitation of the Optical Society of America, for the express purpose of explaining to its annual meeting how far Einstein's concepts have really been verified experimentally.

Of the four fields of experiment used in efforts to verify the Einstein theories of time, space and matter, each of the four scientists dealt with one. All afternoon they went over the experimental records, and their attack took the general form of a four-part demonstration that the experimenters who had backed Einstein, in their enthusiasm for relativity, had committed verifications that would not stand exact analysis.

Charles Lane Poor, professor of astronomical physics at Columbia University, was first. He reviewed the observations made by the successive eclipse expeditions of recent years, published as verifications of the Einstein prediction that light from a star passing close to the sun would be bent out of a straight line. The photographed displacement of stars during eclipses, he said, showed "no resemblance to the supposed Einstein deflection at all," Professor Poor said.

He said the possibility of such light bending was first suggested by Newton, whose concepts of time, space and matter are supplanted in the view of the relativists, and that Einstein's prediction, that light would not be bent, was a prediction, it did not involve any phase of relativity, but served principally to "decorate" the Einstein theory. Professor Poor concluded his review of straight bending during eclipses of the sun, by saying it could be explained with less violence to probability as an ordinary refraction of light, instead of of phenomena of the relative aspect of matter and energy.

Dr. Kelvin Burns, of the Allegheny Observatory, next took up the Einstein prediction that the analysis of light from the sun through a spectroscopic lens would show a uniform shift of all absorption lines toward the red end of the spectrum. After asserting that the modern spectroscopic with an accuracy of three parts in 10,000,000, was a nearly ideal instrument for observing the validity of any finely organized theory, he presented, from his own records and the records of observers who have reported Einstein's verification, a variable, instead of a uniform shift of all spectrum lines toward the red end, with some lines not shifted at all.

Dr. R. H. Morgan, of the United States Naval Observatory, took the third field in which Einstein's relativity is popularly believed to have been successfully applied, and which is cited as an indication of its universality. As the planet Mercury revolves around the sun, its orbit almost imperceptibly shifts. This precession of the perihelion of Mercury, according to the relativists, is completely explained by Einstein.

Dr. Morgan called attention, however, to equally exceptional behavior by the planets Venus and Mars, as fully tabulated by astronomers as the motions of Mercury, and then observed that the Einstein theories apparently were not applicable to them.

Professor Poor injected that Einstein really hit upon the proper rate for the precession of Mercury "through a mathematical error in his original paper, and examination of that paper now in the files of the Academy of Sciences in Berlin will show that his error rose from his ignorance of astronomical usages in computation."

A defence of Einstein was entered by Dr. W. F. G. Swann, of the Bartol Research Foundation. "That relativity demonstration of the motion of Mercury," he said, "has been repeated year after year in the class rooms of universities throughout the world, and nobody has previously undertaken to point out that it was wrong."

Demand Standard Of Grain Should Be Compulsory

EDMONTON, Nov. 22.—In a resolution presented on Thursday afternoon, at the annual convention of the Athabasca Federal U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. Constituency Association, Mr. William Dehn, of Waskatenau, charged that grain producers were being robbed by the grain companies establishing grading samples which are higher than those provided by the Grain Standards Board. The resolution also charged that the Federal Government grain inspector at Edmonton was not grading according to legally established standards but higher standards set by himself and assistant.

The petition adopted by the convention reads as follows:

"We petition the Government of Canada to enforce the grain standards as established by the Canadian Board of Grain Standards and provide every elevator agent with samples of these standard grades and require all buyers to grade all grain offered for sale according to those standard samples."

estimated around thirty-six, but so suddenly did the disaster strike, hurling fishing smacks against the rocks and tearing waterfront buildings from their foundations, it was feared that in more detailed reports the number of dead would mount.

It will be several days before reports can be obtained from some of the tiny fishing villages scattered along the coast.

GIGANTIC WAVE

Roads and bridges were torn out by the gigantic wave piling up into the inlets and inland communication facilities were put out of commission in some sections by storm phenomena, which at times forced him to within 100 feet of the ground, so that he could follow the route along the railway tracks. Pilot C. Becker, of the Commercial Airways, Ltd., landed here at noon on Friday with Mike Prichuk, hunter, who had been shot through the shoulder and chest at Kinuso, Alta. Dr. F. C. Rodger, woman doctor, accompanied the injured man, and reported at Edmonton that the patient had experienced an excellent trip, and with hospital attention now available for him he has excellent chances for recovery.

SHIP LOSSES SEAMEN

SYDNEY, N.S., Nov. 22.—Reporting her boatwain and two seamen swept overboard and drowned by a huge tidal wave outside the Atlantic entrance to the Strait of Belle Isle at 5:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Dutch steamer Sted Viadinger, Capt. Wydermann, came into Sydney today and landed at the Marine Hospital Fred Terkesen, thirty-eight, survivor of the disaster, wept, overboard and drowned by a tidal wave, developed acute appendicitis and probably will go under the surgeon's knife here.

Although Capt. Wydermann stated the steamer was shaken as if by a submarine force during Sunday afternoon and battered by a huge tidal wave, the time given, 5:20 p.m. Sunday, would indicate no connection between this experience and Monday's earthquake which occurred at 4:36 p.m. Atlantic Standard Time.

Recalling the steps which culminated in the signature of the general pact for renunciation of war, Mr. Kellogg asserted there was an increasing world demand that the principal naval powers take further action toward the accomplishment of disarmament as an effort to maintain peace.

"Therefore, I am hopeful that progress is going to be made in reduction of armament and that the world will be satisfied that the Great Powers demand and intend to maintain peace."

He stressed his belief that war between the United States and Great Britain was impossible, and referred at length to the value of the recent visit by Prime Minister MacDonald to the United States for conversations with President Hoover.

"Mr. MacDonald's reception, besides being a personal tribute to him, was a tribute to the Government and people of the British Empire," Mr. Kellogg said. "It is my considered opinion that there are no serious unsettled problems between the two countries which can possibly be the basis of armed conflict."

Immigration Not To Be Question For an Inquiry

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Asked in Parliament whether the Government intended to appoint a commission to investigate the whole field of migration from Britain to the Dominions, Hon. He had been advised by Lord Passfield, Secretary of the Dominions, that no useful purpose would be served by a committee at this time, said Mr. Ponsonby.

Discover Bodies Of Men Missing For Some Days

THE P.A.S., Nov. 22.—The bodies of Jack Currie and Arthur Anderson, believed to have been drowned last Monday while fishing on Lake Athabasca, were recovered yesterday by searchers. The two young men were fishing through the ice not far from Cranberry Portage when the accident took place. Anderson was about nineteen years old. He had lived at Cranberry Portage for some time. His father, Barney Anderson, is known over the entire north country. Little is known about Currie here.

First Flapper—She ought not to go in alone. She was nearly drowned yesterday and Roddy had to use artificial respiration.
Second Ditto—You mean, she had to use artificial drowning.

INADEQUATE SALARIES

In no business in life can first class results be achieved with second class salaries. It is an ingrained trait of human nature to expect adequate rewards for adequate accomplishments, and where the rewards fall short of the performances there is discontent which impairs effort. The Government at Ottawa is recognizing this fact to the extent of having appointed a commission to inquire into the salaries paid to its technical officials. That commission has recommended far more substantial recognition of the work being done than any yet given in the Government service, and it may be that there will be a revision of the salary list. In Government service and in any private business where efficiency is the keynote this is a principle to be recognized. Recently there have been invitations for applications to a number of Federal Government positions. One of them is that of a survey physicist for the Topographical Survey Branch. The successful applicant is offered the salary of $1,860, with a maximum of $2,160. Such reward for the expert knowledge sought is wholly inadequate and it is small wonder that because of this, and similar salaries, that the Federal Government is so poorly served in so many departments. Another post offered is for a junior entomologist, to deal particularly with the ravages of the European corn borer. The salary offered is $1,620 with a maximum of $1,920. These are two of many of a similar character that might be quoted.

The Government cannot secure competent technical men at these salaries. Its experience—the logical one—is that more and more difficulty faces it all the time in filling civil service posts. The Dominion, says The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph, "is losing the cream of its technical men, while few of their calibre are being recruited to take their places." The country is ill served under these circumstances. When a private business finds its employees deserting it for more lucrative positions it means that there are fields in which their abilities obtain more adequate recognition. A private business, just as a Government service, suffers to the extent that it fails to offer adequate rewards for adequate services. The lesson of what is happening in the Federal arena, and it happens as well in provincial civil services, is that success and loyalty are largely questions of ample recognition of duties well and faithfully done. A Government in securing its technical men is in competition with private businesses everywhere in the country. Private businesses, similarly, are in competition with each other. Efficiency has an inevitable habit of drifting to where it obtains the best recognition.

CANADIAN APPLES

The Empire Marketing Board has been carrying on an intensive publicity campaign for the marketing of Canadian apples in Great Britain. Advertisements have been inserted in the leading trade papers and in the dailies of the country. In all an appeal is being made to 19,000,000 readers, and this, coming on top of the awards made to the apple products of the Dominion at agricultural exhibitions in Great Britain, is undoubtedly turning public attention more and more to the high nutritive value of this fruit.

The advertisements stress the fact that "for seven months in the year Canada, if an old adage be true, can help to keep the doctor from your door." It is pointed out that the world knows no finer fruit. There is a list of species, including the Gravenstein, Grin Golden, Ribston Pippin, Wealthy, Blenheim Orange, McIntosh Red, Jonathan, Delicious, Winter Banana, Spitzenberg, Baldwin, King, Wagner, Newtown Pippin and Ben Davis. There are recipes for a variety of dishes that can be made from the Canadian product. The British trade is urged to stock these apples from September to April, and it is noted that the finest apples "of Nova Scotia and Ontario (known to the trade as Canadian)" and British Columbia, all carefully graded and Government inspected, are available on all markets at the lowest prices. The advertisements urge the public to "look for apples marked 'Empire-Canada', and test their fine quality for yourself." It is all a part of a campaign for the use of Empire produce which is already producing most substantial results. Its latest phase should prove of particular benefit to Canadian trade in apples in which the British Columbia growers are experiencing a healthy participation.

LABOR AND BOLSHEVISM

The Labor Government in Great Britain is now engaged in weaving the warp and woof of substantial and growing trouble for itself in the establishment of diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia before any undertakings of an unbreakable character have been secured from the latter country to put an end to its propaganda methods in the British Empire. Those who know the mentality of the Soviet Power are aware that propaganda will continue. It is the atmosphere of Russia's political life and the buttress of Bolshevism. The doctrine of world revolution is nailed to the masthead of the Moscow regime, and there are organizations in the country, official and unofficial, always engaged in endeavors to subvert governments all over the world.

The British Labor Government is first to establish diplomatic relations and then to see, by negotiation, what Russia will be prepared to do to put an end to propaganda in the British Empire. Mr. Arthur Henderson, in answering questions in the House of Commons, says that the activities of the Third Internationale in South Africa are a matter for the Government of that country. The assumption is, therefore, that the Overseas Dominions are not being consulted in the matter of a renewal of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Russia. On that understanding the Labor Government is probably not concerned at all about the continuance of Bolshevik propaganda within the Empire. Its memory is short, for it was that propaganda, when Mr. Ramsay MacDonald was last in power, that was a factor in bringing about his downfall from office.

The peculiar aspect of the Labor Government's relationship to Russia is that Parliament has not been taken into its confidence. The new agreement was negotiated by secret diplomacy. Labor, in this instance, as in others, gives inklings of autocratic action. The longer it is in office the more dogmatic becomes its course of policy. Its hidebound political opponents probably are exulting silently because it has embraced the Russian bear, since they know what to expect from the Soviet mentality and morality. That, however, is a dangerous way of viewing the situation. Under the cloak of friendliness between London and Moscow much harm can ensue unless the proper safeguards are provided before there is an exchange of Ambassadors. The Labor Government believes in that exchange first, and in making conditions afterwards. Russia under its present regime has been bound by conditions. Mr. Stalin and his supporters must be laughing up their sleeves at the naïveté of Mr. Henderson and his colleagues and in the meantime the propaganda of the Communist gospel continues, as is instanced by the activities of the Third Internationale in South Africa.

Motorists who observe the decencies of the road dim their glare headlights when approaching a car traveling in the opposite direction. Apparently there are thousands still who do not come under the classification of "decent" motorists. In Quebec the Government is considering strict regulation regarding headlights, and in that province a certain kind of lights may be ordered to be used unless manufacturers do something to remedy the evil.

Stock market fortune tellers have become discredited with the public. A soothsayer unable to predict the recent crash in prices can hardly be said to have had his ear to the ground. Recent happenings disclose that those who foretell the trend of the market are engaged and paid for the purpose of encouraging speculation. The trend they prophesy is, therefore, almost invariably of a character which will give comfort to the gullible.

Premier Ferguson of Ontario estimates that 88 per cent of the people of that province use alcoholic beverages. That may be an exaggeration, but the number of people who use alcohol in some form or other is nearer 100 per cent in this age of cosmetics.

There are now six vacancies in the Senate. Since women are eligible for appointment to that body it would seem poetic justice that half all vacancies should go to the fair sex. That will only happen, however, if women stand up for their rights.

CYRIL TOLLEY'S TANK EXPLOIT

There has just come to light, so far as golfers generally are concerned, the story of how Mr. Cyril Tolley won his Military Cross in the war. Probably a good many have forgotten that the amateur champion received the decoration, and possibly many others did not know. Little was said of it, even when in 1920 he won the first of the post-war titles at Mullfield. But the story will interest golfers in view of what has been spoken and written by way of criticism of Mr. Tolley and the suggestions of childishness that have been made of some of his match play appearances. The story is told in a volume called "Fighting Tanks," which is an authentic account, compiled from a number of reliable sources, of the part these engines took in action. One day when Kemmel Hill was being used as a spectators' gallery by staff officers and others, and the salient was ringed with flashes of fire from guns of all calibres, a lone tank, for which a bulky figure acted as scoutmaster, waded through the fog of smoke and gas towards the notorious Pommer Redoubt. From his bulk the officer in charge was an easy mark to see and incidentally easy to hit. When his tank was close to its objective he gave the order, "Give 'em socks," and his crew responded with great accuracy. The account says that he dispersed the crews of and silenced four separate machine guns, one of which he captured himself, and thus materially assisted the infantry in the capture of the Redoubt, which had been holding up the attack. That day's work won Temporary Lieutenant Cyril J. H. Tolley his M.C.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

The radio, like the stock market and many other things except prices of "liquor," appears to be "in a slump." This is a matter that affects us very closely, because we depend a great deal upon the radio for entertainment and do not depend at all upon "liquor" for entertainment. But we are not destitute of hope that the quality of radio broadcasting may improve ultimately, although probably not as quickly as the value of stocks upon the exchanges.

Our hope for the improvement in radio broadcasting is feebly based upon the possibility of the Canadian Government, supported by the Dominion Parliament, adopting the suggestions of the Radio Commission and instituting a national broadcasting system. We say our hope for improvement in the radio is feeble, because the Canadian Government is weak and slow in action. The Canadian Government always takes plenty of time to ponder over a thing before deciding to do anything. It calls that "taking the matter into its most serious consideration."

But the Canadian Government, supported by the Dominion Parliament, may decide to do something about the radio some time. And we trust that when the time comes, if it is necessary occasionally to broadcast gramophone records, the records broadcast may be good records, not records that are practically as old as the first Berliner or Edison gramophones, and which howl and whine like the loons upon our lakes or the cougars in our forests when calling for their lost mates. Then there is another crooked thing in connection with broadcasting that should be set straight. The average announcer is bad enough, but when the average announcer announces to the sound of the music of the timbrel, or the tambourine, or any of the other instruments which make weird music, he creates travail in the souls of men and women of the slightest musical taste.

Of course there is some really good music broadcast over the radio, but the music is only good in spots, and there is a great and deep gulf between the spots. Good speeches are also broadcast over the radio, but under present conditions, over which Canadians have no control, the speeches that are broadcast are not specially interesting to the people of this country, unless those people happen to be interested in the peculiar vagaries of the stock exchanges or the more peculiar antics of the United States Congress.

Like the majority of Canadians, for a considerable time we were interested in the antics of Congress. We watched the newspapers closely and listened to the radio intently in the hope of finding out what the Senate and the House intended to do with the tariff. We have ceased that ever since we found out that Congress was as hopelessly tangled up in its own rules of procedure that it was practically helpless as Mussolini has made the Italian legislative chamber (what there is left of it), and could do nothing with the tariff except outlaw or proscribe all Canadian agricultural products. The President, simple but honest man, has appealed to Congress to do something to prove its capacity for action, but the rebellious Republicans and the reactionary Democrats have bound it up as tightly as the Lilliputians bandaged the giant Gulliver.

After talking for five months and doing practically nothing, Congress is about to adjourn and take a well-deserved and welcome holiday, but it will immediately be summoned to regular session and proceed to try to do something. But we should not be a bit surprised if before adjourning Congress were to pass a resolution expressing sentiments of the utmost goodwill to Canada. Nor would we be a bit surprised either if Mr. Tolley, William Lyon Mackenzie King were to cause a message to be broadcast over Canada directing attention to the intimate and profitable business relations he has succeeded in establishing and maintaining between the two great nations, whose people are of common ancestry and talk with a common tongue.

After blowing bubbles on the stock exchanges for about six years and watching the bubbles burst at the end of the period of inflation, the people of the United States and Canada are told that there is nothing to be worried about, for business is fundamentally sound. That is true enough theoretically, for the exchanges create nothing and produce nothing. The stock exchanges do not even create values. Nevertheless business is not as active as it used to be. It probably would not have been as active as it used to be even if the bubbles had not burst, for some authorities on business tell us that the fall in the speculative value of stocks was not the cause of but the result of a fall in the activity of business. So to side over the period of depression, or to avert a period of depression if possible, Congress is going to spend hundreds of millions of dollars and a number of the states and larger municipalities millions of dollars in public works. As the volatile Mayor of New York says: "If things are not all right here, there is no other place to go to." Yes, there is. There is Canada, which at the present time is a good place to come to, and is going to be a better place to come to.

BEACON HILL WATERFRONT
 Sir.—The common sense editorial in your issue of November 20 on this subject must appeal to many who want to see progress in Victoria. If we are going to expand we must cater to our visitors and tourists. Our greatest asset is our scenery and waterfront, and it has been sadly neglected. What the city needs is a live, active parks commission to outline a definite plan and policy and see it carried out gradually.

The cost, spread over years, would be small and we would derive great and accumulating benefits. The Victoria Horticultural Society doubt could greatly aid the citizens by outlining a programme, and now is the opportunity to hear what the aldermanic candidates have to say on this important subject prior to election.

ALIVESTOCK TRADING CENTRE

Sir.—Considerable expression and thought regarding Canadian trade development at the Pacific Coast must appeal to many who want to see progress in Victoria. If we are going to expand we must cater to our visitors and tourists. Our greatest asset is our scenery and waterfront, and it has been sadly neglected. What the city needs is a live, active parks commission to outline a definite plan and policy and see it carried out gradually.

It takes interested business men with a knowledge of their underlings, to develop and successfully commercialize an industry. The result of such effort has focused the eyes of the world on the Pacific Coast trade movement in lumber, mineral, fish, grain, etc. In the same manner is the livestock industry being developed quietly by men familiar with the business and a realization of the enormous possibilities of trade expansion from a centralized livestock market.

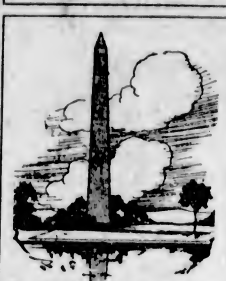

British Columbia until recently has been without a public livestock market centre for the convenience of both ends of the trade. The cities of Calgary, Edmonton, Moose Jaw, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver, etc., each have their public livestock market, where buyer and seller meet and the real value of an animal is declared. The industrial development of Canadian Pacific Coast demands a public livestock market, in keeping with other similar industrial centres on the continent. With this in mind, a group of interested business men, under the name of the Vancouver Livestock Exchange, Limited, have purchased eleven acres on Marine Drive and Fraser Street, on which they propose to develop a livestock market in keeping with Western trade expansion.

The principals of the Vancouver Livestock Exchange are a group of men in the production or distribution of the livestock business, or people with a personal acquaintance with the industry as a whole. These people recognize the economic necessity of a public livestock trading centre supplying the ever-increasing volume of requirements for home consumption, as well as taking care of the export trade. Livestock shipments en route southward to the States and westward to the Orient. They foresee one recognized livestock trading centre, such as is established in all other Canadian and American centres of much less size and importance than our Canadian Western gateway, a common ground for packers, wholesalers, butchers, ranchers, farmers, etc., to meet and establish correct animal values based on supply and demand.

The rapid achievements of co-operative livestock marketing by the producers of this continent is realized as well as the vital necessity of a Pacific Coast livestock market centre to enable co-operative effort to function in this province in a practical and economic manner. British Columbia is well equipped with local organization in the form of farmers' institutes, livestock associations, agricultural societies, etc., many of which have been shipping co-operatively for some time to the Vancouver Livestock Exchange market, which has been in practical operation for the past two years, and the results of which are proof and encouragement to the company to extend its operations.

It is well known that Japan and China are interested in the purchase of our dairy cattle. It has been proven to the satisfaction of these countries that Western Canada is the logical place for them to purchase their requirements. However, if this export business is to develop as it should it is imperative to have a reliable and responsible livestock agency established through which the business can be properly transacted. The Vancouver Livestock Exchange, Limited, is the organization to offer this business and execute the orders to the satisfaction of both countries. The same applies to the

Jots From Geography

WASHINGTON MONUMENT, at the National Capitol, is a shaft of marble 555 feet in height. Almost every nation on the globe contributed a stone in its building. An elevator is run to the top of the monument, and from this vantage point Washington may best be seen. The shaft stands at the foot of the imposing Lincoln Memorial, lending dignity to the artistic ensemble.

Import and export of commercial livestock between British Columbia and the United States, and as soon as direct railway connections are established with the Peace River country, Vancouver will be looked upon as the logical market centre for all northern livestock production.

Furthermore, with the ever-increasing movements of grain and livestock to the Pacific Coast it will naturally develop the business of properly finishing cattle for the market. Feed lots for cattle, sheep and hogs will spring up whereby the unfinished stock on the market will be moved to feeding quarters and properly finished on grain elevator screenings. The finishing of cattle is a big business in many countries and its development will be noticed here in close proximity to the Vancouver Livestock Exchange market.

When we stop to think of the wonderful development of industry in recent years at the Pacific Coast and the outlook for continued growth and prosperity, we are convinced of the equally wonderful opportunity confronting the livestock business.

BUYING HOME-MADE GOODS

Sir.—Do the ordinary Christmas shoppers realize that every time they buy an article marked "Made in U.S.A." they are putting a nail in Canada's economic coffin? Mr. King says he is waiting for Mr. Hoover to define his tariff policy. Why should not the Canadian buyers take the matter out of Mr. King's hands and take only Canadian-made goods? With our merchants loaded up with American Christmas cards and other little penny catchers, it would bring a true Canadian policy into demonstration. Ignorance is not the only reason for our Federal authorities' delay. How about political uncertainty? How about suspending the habit of thoughtless giving, and give Canada a real gift by letting her help herself?

"THE JOURNEY'S END"

Sir.—As one of those present at the recent performance of "The Journey's End," I was afraid that those of the audience who had had no actual experience of life in the front line of France during the war must have received a wrong impression of the morale of the British officer, which is a grave injustice to the majority. It is true that some few, in order to keep up a semblance of courage had recourse to excessive whisky drinking. In a glaring instance, which came under my personal observation, the officer concerned was very soon relieved of his command.

I must point out that, though some officers may have found it necessary to maintain their courage by these means, the private soldiers and noncommissioned ranks, whose precarious trench existence was not passed in the security of a palatial house, but in the open trench without the questionable advantage of a generous supply of whisky. As a general rule a small allowance of rum was issued at "stand down," that was once in twenty-four hours. I think that it will be agreed that their courage was not wanting.

It is very regrettable that a play which has been played to such vast audiences and different nationalities, whatever its merits as a drama, should be accepted unchallenged as a true representation of what frequently occurred in the firing line. Had it been so, the conclusion of the war might have been very different. This play, for all its wide popularity, does not necessarily correctly represent facts. In my opinion it ought to be criticized for misrepresenting them and thereby injuring the British reputation for enduring courage in desperate circumstances.

TITHING

Sir.—When I get stuck with a problem I usually find some sort of helpful solution through The Colonist. The magazines contain advertisements on how to become successful, wealthy, and gain things which you desire. But to stimulate things pamphlets are being sent or given out. One such is from a Christian League and bears the title "God's Loving Money Rule for Your Financial Prosperity." Texts from both New and Old Testament are quoted to show that if you wish success and prosperity the way to get it is to tithe. To quote from the "New Testament" is simply to pay 10 per cent regularly of your income. The Lord returns it to you with profit and great blessings. No matter how poor, tithing will help you.

The writer of the pamphlet states that he thinks tithing is a solution for poverty. What one would like to know is how the thousands of jobs are going to get this tithing money, which is to end their poverty, and why on earth should a man have to hand back part of his wages so that he can have them handed back again with an extra cheque attached? Why all the swapping back and forth? It gives one a vision of some sort of a sweepstake where every ticket wins a prize.

Another pamphlet sent comes from a "Rosticrucian" order, so called, which has for sale a book which tells how money may be secured and also tells of one of those in a salaried position, it states that by following its simple rules a fortune came in three days to one person. Personally, I think $22.50 is a good investment if one could be sure of a fortune in return, but a Scotch ancestry is hard to live down and the pamphlet does not guarantee your money back in case the formula does not work.

Why can't some of these money maniacs give a few lessons free to some of their fellow human beings who are sadly in need of it? In some of the United States cities there are already bread lines and the winter is scarcely upon us. In our own cities there are thousands out of work. On the beach near my home one of these jobless men sat on a log. He was dining off part of a dry loaf which he cut in pieces with a pocket knife. He had no title with which to win prosperity, and no money with which to buy one of the many numerous books which are supposed to teach one how to attract wealth. One wonders what next, and for how much?

JUDGMENT IN RACING CASE IS RESERVED

Mr. R. C. Lowe Says Transaction Is Attempt to Do Plaintiff Out of Willow Bramble

QUESTION IS WHICH SIDE TELLS TRUTH

Judgment was reserved by Judge Lampman at the conclusion yesterday of the hearing of the action brought in the County Court, under review proceedings, in which Mrs. Margaret (Peggy) Childs seeks possession of the racing mare, Willow Bramble, at against Mrs. Edith Nelson and Mr. Louis Nelson, her husband. Application was made and granted to amend the plaintiff's claim from possession of the mare and $300 damages, to possession of the mare and $600 damages. Defendants counterclaim for damages. Mr. R. C. Lowe appeared for plaintiff and Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., for defendants.

Argument by counsel in the case continued yesterday morning. Mr. Frank Higgins, speaking with reference to the claiming of the title to the mare, stating that even if Willow Bramble were delivered to Mr. and Mrs. Childs, Mrs. Childs could not prove that she was the owner of the mare without the consent of the Racing Association.

The title, he contended, still remained in Mr. McConnell, who claimed Willow Bramble on the occasion when the mare ran at Hastings Park, Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Childs having no horse which ran in the race of which Willow Bramble is claimed. Counsel also contended that the contract was not enforceable. There was, he said, no evidence that Mrs. Nelson knew of the arrangement between her husband and Mr. Childs other than what her husband had told her.

Judge Lampman pointed out to counsel that the damaging feature against his client was in the instructions given for Mrs. Childs to go round to the house at night. Mr. Higgins held that the whole attitude of Mrs. Nelson was reasonable. Mrs. Childs had told him in telling Mrs. Nelson what to do with the mare and Mrs. Nelson, not wanting to be pestered, told Mrs. Childs that if she had anything to say about Willow Bramble to come up to the house at night, rather than be seen around the track. Counsel characterized Mr. Childs' story as preposterous.

FOR PLAINTIFF

Mr. Lowe, in regard to the title to the mare, said that the action was one between Mr. Nelson and Mr. Childs, and the plaintiff did not have to bother about the claim of Mr. McConnell, behind whose skirts, he said, defendant was trying to get. Mr. McConnell had accepted his money and had waived any right he might have. "They were not concerned with Mr. McConnell," Counsel cited a lengthy list of authorities regarding ownership, titles and damages before referring to the racing rules of the association. These rules, he said, were not subject to any statute, and that was one of the reasons why a move was being started for the establishment of a racing association in this province which would be effective. The rules were authorized and amounted to nothing.

Adding to the rule as to claiming horses, it had been said that these sort of things were done and it appeared that this was the case. A wrongdoer, however, could not set up a public statue to protect himself or his fraud.

As far as the facts went, nothing, said counsel, could be clearer. The chain in favor of the plaintiff had been forged in court from the time the case opened until its end. Defendants' counsel did not, as he should have done, plead the statute under the section of the Sales of Goods Act, but said that the title was in Mr. McConnell.

Mr. Lowe paralleled the historic judgment of King Solomon with reference to the rival women claimants to the one baby, the true and false mother—the case of Willow Bramble. If the mare was to be cut in half, as was proposed in the case of the baby, the true mother would come forward. Mrs. Childs loved the mare, and when Willow Bramble was claimed she was broken hearted. Even then she entered a protest.

Counsel dealt critically with the evidence given by Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, and in reference to the evidence given by Mr. Nelson and Mr. Murray, pointed out that these witnesses for the defence were painfully afflicted with deafness, the references causing laughter in which all in court joined.

Defendants called nobody, said counsel to prove their case, not even their friend, Mr. Marshall, the race horse owner of Vancouver, whereas the plaintiff had summoned everyone they could.

Judge Lampman mentioned that there was not much evidence about the instructions to the jockeys. Mr. Lowe said that it was Mrs. Childs who gave instructions to the jockeys, Greenwood and Holmes.

In concluding, Mr. Lowe said that the whole thing was done to "do Mrs. Childs out of her mare. He held that the plaintiff's case was unassailable.

CHILDREN PLEASE WITH PANTOMIME

Pupils of Mr. Boris Novikoff Dance Their Way to Hearts of Audience in Shriners' Hall

Last night in the new Shriners' Hall the pupils of M. Boris Novikoff presented a delightful ballet pantomime, adapted from Grimm's fairy story, "Hansel and Gretel." With uniform excellence the entertainment went through four acts without a hitch from start to finish. The old story was adhered to closely, that is, in pantomime, Hansel and Gretel are abandoned in the forest by their cruel stepmother and are then privileged to occupy the old witch's house. The story is a tale of magic, of fairies, gnomes and glowworms, which, as every right-minded person knows, take place in all well-conducted forests.

The revels are put to an end by the arrival of a witch, mounted on the traditional broomstick, and the children are enticed into her house which is constructed entirely of gingerbread. They succeed in boiling the old lady in her own cauldron, however, and the witch is devoured by the youngsters, decamp with her bags of ill-gotten gold.

They are welcomed by their father who has since become a widower, though whether by good luck or good management is not made clear. The old man receives his offspring with paternal tenderness he at once foresees that he will now have to work hard to provide for his family, a point of view which may or may not have been traceable to his very red beard.

His doubts are swiftly set at rest, however, when his children produce the witch's gold and the curtain comes down upon a thoroughly happy ending.

The dance was so unusually good that it would be hard to pick and choose between the many performers. Miss Daisy Borrowman, however, deserves special mention and Miss Betty Clair's devil dance, and Miss Mona and Doris Jewell's schoolyard tap were among the most appreciated features.

Excellent selections were rendered by the orchestra from the Musical School, under the direction of Mrs. E. S. Foot, and the lyrics were greatly added to the excellence of the entertainment.

The parts were taken as follows: Gretel, Miss Doris Jewell; Hansel, Miss Margaret Poyer; stepmother, Miss Gertrude Partridge; father, Miss Valerie Ellwood; beggar woman, Miss Daisy Borrowman; girls and boys, Misses L. McKay, Mona Jewell, Betty Clair, Ruth Balm, Ellen Chislett, Patsy Dawkins, Susette Plimley, Dorothy Appleby, Sylvia A. Letterman and Barbara Hatt; night, Miss Nellie Sims; fairy, Miss Daisy Borrowman; glow worms, Misses Ruth Balm, Sheila and Patricia Meyers; butterfly, Miss Lotta McKay; fairy, Miss Daisy Borrowman; Lily, Miss Mona Jewell; nymph, Miss Ellen Chislett; dwarfs, Merle Smith, Frances Farquhar, Tommy Johnston, Leslie Jordan; messenger, Miss Valerie Ellwood; witch, Miss Mary Poyer; little devil, Merle Smith, Frances Farquhar, Tommy Johnston, Leslie Jordan; devil, Miss Betty Clair; good angel, Miss Daisy Borrowman. Portsmouth Dockyard Established in 1229

Portsmouth Dockyard has been established several centuries, dating from Plantagenet days. In 1540 it covered eight acres of ground abutting on the harbor near the King's Stairs. Cromwell added two acres in 1658 and Charles II added eight in 1663 and ten more in 1667. By 1710 thirty acres more had been claimed or bought and by the end of the eighteenth century the total area was ninety acres.

In 1848, a steam basin covering seven acres, and four new docks, were opened, the dockyard ground being extended to 115 acres in all. In 1865 large extension works were decided upon, increasing the area to 293 acres. These included a tidal basin, and opening out of it, a deep dock and two locks, in themselves involving large docks, which lead to three basins and four docks. An entrance was also formed between the new tidal basin and the steam basin of 1848, and large additions were made to the wharfage accommodation, as well as to the storehouses and factories.

Subsequent improvements included the formation of two new dry docks (1896), the construction of new jetties, a torpedo range in the harbor; the erection of various buildings, such as electrical shops and numerous subsidiary works. Altogether the dockyard comprises fifteen dry docks, sixty acres of enclosed basins, 18,490 feet of wharfage and about ten miles of railway.

ONWEGO CLASS HOLDS TENTH ANNUAL MEET

Out of 450 Boys Identified With Organization in Fourteen Years, 250 Have Left This Country

ONE HUNDRED OF TOTAL HAVE WED

There were no empty seats in the hall of the First United Church last evening when the tenth annual evening entertainment, under the auspices of the Onwego Young Men's Bible Class began. The programme was most successfully carried out, all the numbers being received with enthusiasm by those present. Contributing to the general success of the evening were Messdames Georgina Watt and Styles T. Sehl, the Misses Grace Platt and Celia Lewis, with Messrs. G. H. E. Green, M. Humphries, D. Burdette, J. H. Jones and Dr. H. Johns, Miss Dorothy Morton being the accompanist.

In his introductory remarks, Dr. W. G. Wilson extolled the work of the Onwego Bible Class. For fourteen years it had been gradually extending under the leadership of R. G. Howell, and during that time a total of four hundred and fifty boys had been identified with the organization. Started in 1915 by a number of boys whose fathers were overseas, the class had increased in membership. Of the four hundred and fifty boys who had felt its influence, he regretted to state two hundred and fifty of them had gone to the United States, seeking employment. Forty are college men and in the neighborhood of one hundred are married. Scattered in all parts of the globe, they still retain the spirit of class loyalty and correspond with the leader of the class, Mr. Howell, and are active in their own country are prominent in its athletic and social life, and are assisting in the building up of a clean citizenship. Over a score are public school teachers in the province. In church life they are filling all the offices available to young men and furnish the majority of teachers for the Sunday schools. At present the active force numbers thirty.

The concert given last evening is the tenth consecutive one organized for the purpose of adding to a fund to provide hamper for certain families, who will not make their needs known to the regular service organizations at Christmas time. These hampers are distributed irrespective of religious distinction, and none of the organization is aware of who the recipients are. Last year seventeen hampers were supplied at an average cost of $12.

ISLAND BEAUTY IS DEPICTED IN LANTERN VIEWS

Audience of 400 at Chamber of Commerce Auditorium Present at Alpine Club Entertainment

CAMP-FIRE SCENE CLEVER NOVELTY

The joys of mountaineering on Vancouver Island were presented in a novel and entertaining fashion at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium last evening, when an audience of more than four hundred people expressed its pleasure in the programme provided under the auspices of the local branch of the Alpine Club of Canada. Among these people was Hon. R. B. Bruce, one of the first to traverse the recently opened into the Forbidden Plateau country, which was portrayed in two of the pictures shown on the screen last evening.

Mr. C. L. Harrison, outings convenor for the Island section of the Alpine Club, acted as chairman, and his comments on the still and moving pictures of the Forbidden Plateau, the Lake of the Seven Hills, and the various mountain peaks, were lucidly descriptive. The photographic slides were remarkably fine, being hand-tinted by Mrs. Haddow, an active member of the club, who has been able to give an absolutely truthful representation of the colors of the different lakes, rocky buttresses and snow-capped peaks.

In addition to these graphic there were some other delightful and original features, the most novel being the staging of an actual camp-fire scene on the Forbidden Plateau. This was wonderfully realistic. As the curtain was drawn aside, the jolly gathering of mountaineers was disclosed lounging in typically unconventional attitudes about a blazing campfire, clad in their serviceable climbing clothes, khaki shirts and breeches, and heavily-laden boots, and with alpenstocks or ice-axe close at hand. A background of fire and shadowy shoulders of mountains added further realism to the picture.

CAMP-FIRE PROGRAMME With a clever fidelity of detail a typical camp-fire programme, such as any member of the Alpine Club has experienced, was reproduced, even to the unembarrassed drying of a shirt by one of the members, "Gordon Cameron, who purloined a shirt through the circle of freerangers and proceeded to make the article fit for wearing on the next morning's expedition. In the joyful atmosphere of genial comradeship, the company was called upon by one for song, recitation, or story, with choruses and a continuous flow of unconventional repartee between. The whole thing was so natural that the audience was hardly conscious that it was being acted. The opening choruses were all familiar climbing songs: "We've Been Tramping on the Mountains," "The More We Are Together," and "Climbing, Climbing." Mr. C. L. Harrison's "Orders of the Day," a necessary observance in camp, were delivered in a matter-of-fact businesslike way, informed the members that two climbs would take place the following morning, and asked for registration of those intending to join either. The company claimed then, for a song from McCaw, and he gave "When I Climb Upon the Rocks," the others joining in the refrain, "Haul Haul!" Mrs. Haddow's humorous recitation, "The Man With a Single Hair," followed, and after that Mrs. McCaw, manipulating her powder-puff expertly, sang "My Complexion Lies Up in the Mountains" to the tune of "My Bonnie." Breezy little stories by Captain Everall and Mr. Norman D'Arcy, and a duet by Mr. Gordon Cameron and Mrs. P. McConnan, which cleverly parodied "Madame, Will You Walk," concluded the realistic camp-fire programme. One of the happy features was the presence of Mrs. Chave with her banjo, which made a good accompaniment for the singing. Other musical features of the evening were also greatly enjoyed, two solos by Mrs. McConnan, "My Lover Comes on a Ski," and "The Waters of Minnetonka," and two numbers by a string quartet, headed by Miss Irene Bick, Mrs. Aldous, Miss Adele Bucklin and Miss Neva Stewart. Their playing of Henry's "Amaryllis" and "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn) was most artistic.

THE PICTURES The audience applauded enthusiastically at a picture of Mr. A. O. Wheeler, founder and for many years director of the Alpine Club of Canada, and who was present on the screen. Mr. Harrison introduced him as "the backbone of the club."

Alpine Club, the grand old man of the mountain.

The pictures which followed were colored lantern slides of the Forbidden Plateau country, showing the beautiful sweep of park lands and serrated, snow-covered skyline, open glades with deer grazing undisturbed (the plateau being a game preserve), great rocky buttresses, typical lake scenes in a country which has hundreds of unnamed lakes, several beautiful pictures of Lake Beauport, the first Forbidden Plateau camp was pitched last year, magnificent views of Mount Albert Edward and Castle Mountain, with the jade-colored waters of Mount Lake at its base, and some of the snow scenes, including one at Beecher Pass which was described as one of the longest toboggan slides in the world.

A movie of some of the Alpine Club movements in the same area was both interesting and amusing, beginning with the crossing of the suspension bridge at Mount Beecher, the arrival in camp, ascent of Mount Albert Edward and Castle Mountain, traversing some of the snow planes, the building of the cairn at the summit, and the less strenuous happenings about camp. On the return journey to Comox the party was shown digging for fossils on the Puntledge, some of the results of which have been exhibited in the city since.

Sooke Country Beautiful slides of the Sooke country were shown, interest centring especially in the club campsite at the beach, looking across the lake, or down from some of the surrounding ridge of hills, and always beautiful, and the pictures illustrated episodes in the several expeditions which have been brought by the club, including the last "Thanksgiving" week-end, when the club camped on YOUTH IS SERVED IN SOCCER MATCH

Young Soldiers Defeat Old Soldiers 6-3 in Exhibition Game at Work Point Barracks

Youth was served at Work Point Barracks yesterday afternoon when the "Young Soldiers" defeated the "Old Soldiers," 6-3, in an exhibition soccer match. However, the boys of the old school are not the least bit upset over the outcome, and have already issued a challenge for a return match, in which they predict they will turn the tables on their younger opponents.

The halftime score stood 2-1, Bichard and Finch scoring for the "Young Soldiers" and Sgt. "Sandy" Spiers and Sgt. George Pocock for the "Old Soldiers."

Shortly after the resumption of play the winners netted two goals in quick succession, Sgt. "Kewpie" Kemp and Finch, beating Staff Sgt. Swift between the sticks for the "Old Soldiers."

Things became a little more interesting when Sgt. "Punch" Grimes netted the leather for the losers and brought his teammates' total to within one goal of their opponents. However, Burgess banged the leather home for two additional counters for the "Young Soldiers," making the final score 6-3.

FAMILIAR FIGURES
Many of the players on the "Old Soldiers" team were familiar figures in local soccer circles not many years ago, and included "Sandy" Spiers, "Punch" Grimes, Sgt. Buxton, Sgt. Pocock, Staff Sgt. Hutchinson, Sgt. Major Ted Wylie and Staff Sgt. Swift.

Laundress Drops Note to Players

HORROR! A TELEPHONE NUMBER IN THE POCKET OF MY BALL PANTS WHEN THEY WERE DROPPED—WHY DON'T YOU DATE HER UP TONIGHT?

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Occasionally when the uniforms of major league clubs are returned after being dry-cleaned a small piece of paper is found in the pants pocket on which has been written the name and telephone number of one of the more adventurous and romantic girls at the laundry.

These phone numbers have caused some real laughs. I remember one newspaper scribe making a date with one of the girls and wearing Christy Mathewson's mackinaw whose name was on the inside of his coat. In after years she boasted that she had once been out with "Big Six."

Some of the single fellows used the clubhouse boy as a decoy. They would take the girls up and then send him out ahead to look them over. They had great confidence in his judgment of feminine pulchritude, and by the way some real romances were started in this manner.

Downie's Lone Goal Beats Cubs; Seattle Wins Overtime Game

Diminutive Centre of Portland Bucks Scores Only Marker Against Orphaned Local Squad—Sound City Noses Out Vancouver, 2-1

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22.—Portland Bucks, playing Victoria here tonight, blanked the Cubs in a Pacific Coast Hockey League fixture.

Downie's tally for the Bucks, less than five minutes after the game opened, was the only counted goal of the night. The score was 1 to 0. It was the third straight loss for the Cubs in a week. Victoria, however, went down fighting and put up a gallant battle, but could not force the disc past Andy Alken.

head in the Bucks' net. Little Dave Downie broke through the Victoria defence early in the first period to slap one past Earl Robertson.

A slim crowd witnessed the game. The hockey produced was not of the best and although the players tried hard, they did not get very far, owing to the heavy checking tactics adopted by both teams.

Jack Kelly was the shining light of the melee and he flashed in and out through the Portland team time and again. The best hockey was played in the second period when the Cubs carried the game to the Bucks. Play was very fast in this session, but many efforts on goal were had been witnessed, 20-16. ESKS DEFEAT CHAMPS

SEATTLE, Nov. 22.—In an overtime hockey game in the Pacific Coast League here tonight, Eskimos recorded a 2-1 victory over the Vancouver Lions.

Benson netted the winning counter early in the overtime canto to break a deadlock that existed throughout two periods after each team had scored a goal in the opening half.

More than five thousand persons jammed the Seattle ice arena to witness one of the hardest fought battles ever played in Seattle. After two quick scores early in the first period the teams waged a savage attack for goals, but all were stopped by the strong defence of both combinations until a wicked long shot by Benson slipped past Percy Jackson in the extra period.

The puck hit the ice in front of the Eskimos and splashed through his legs.

The Eskimos counted the first goal after two minutes and twenty seconds of play in the first period, when the Seattle forwards caught the Vancouver defence off.

Hands, Not Body, Do the Hitting

IF RIGHT HIP IS NOT LOCKED YOU WILL BE HIT FOR PULL DOWN OF LEFT TO START CLUB

By SOL METZGER

Many a golfer has followed the sound advice of starting his swing by pulling the club straight down his right side with a straight left arm, only to have his stroke go amiss. This result can be laid to a failure to have the right hip braced as the downswing starts.

You see you not only have to have the right hip locked in order to correctly take the club back, but also to start the downswing. If not the right hip will swing around as you begin the slow and easy pull as you begin the slow and easy pull as you begin the slow and easy pull.

If you lack this brace of the locked right hip as you start down the body will do the hitting instead of the hands. A sagging of body results. Keep the body out of the downswing. Start it by pulling the club straight down the right side with a straight left arm against a locked right hip.

RANK OUTSIDER KAYOES DIXON

to Put Negro Away in
First Round

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—In one of the most surprising ring up-sets witnessed here in a long time,
Wesley Ketchell, 150 pounds, San
Lake City, a rank outsider, stopped
George Dixon, 150½ pounds, Portland negro, in the first round of their ten-round bout here tonight.

The fight had barely got under way when Ketchell, a southpaw, landed a looping left to the jaw that drove Dixon clear across the ring and into the ropes. The negro, badly stunned, was unable to protect himself and clung to the ropes with one hand, meanwhile taking a steady stream of lefts and rights to the jaw. Dixon was out on his feet when his handlers threw in the towel.

Queen's New Gymnasium

THE memorial gymnasium to be erected at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., will cost in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars. The plan of it, reproduced here, prepared by John S.
Archibald, of Montreal, calls for building similar in appearance to the library building to be opposite it. Built of local stone, it will contain a large gymnasium, a swimming pool, rooms for other exercises, and a boardroom for the athletic board to meet. There will also be a cafeteria attached. Tenders for work will be called for shortly and it is anticipated that a start will be made on building next Spring.

DEPERE CREW AT SEATTLE FROM WRECK

Men Report That Freighter Could Not Have Stayed Aloft Five Minutes More When Beached

DAY AND NIGHT JOB FOR SALVAGE CREW

SEATTLE, Nov. 22.—Twenty-five officers and members of the crew of the freighter Deperé, which was beached at Port Mearns last Friday after striking a rock near Cape Decision, arrived here tonight on the steamer Yukon from Ketchikan.

The men reported that the Deperé could not have stayed aloft five minutes longer as the engine-room was completely flooded.

Pacific Salvage Company operators aboard the S.S. Salvage King, are working twenty-four hours a day pumping out the Deperé, according to word received here. The weather continues fine and an attempt will be made to pull the freighter off today or on Sunday. She will then be towed to Shelter Bay, four miles off, for temporary repairs before being taken to Seattle.

NEW WIRELESS STATION
A new wireless station will probably be erected in Tientsin in about two months' time and a through wireless service with Canton and Peking established, according to the scheme of the Ministry of Communications. The new station will have a wave length of 3,000 kilometres, twice that of the present, and the machinery is expected to arrive this month from the United States. Though wireless communication with Peking was started in October, messages are being transmitted via Mukden at present, costing 30 cents each Chinese word in plain language and 45 cents for English and Chinese code word.

Tourists who go to Paris may not be able to extend their trip through Europe, but an hour at the radio will give them the voices and music of ten different countries.

Broadcastings from England, Holland, Germany, Spain, Italy, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Poland and Russia are easily heard with the new receiving sets.

At Stratford-on-Avon, a study of the visitors' book at Shakespeare's birthplace, shows that three out of every five names of visitors outside the British Isles are those of Americans.

The Princess Maquinn will leave Victoria at 11 p.m., November 23, for Port Alice and way point.

DAISY PUTNAM ASHORE IN FOG

CAPT. M. C. YETTING AND CREW OF TWENTY-ONE ABLE TO WADE ASHORE

Small Steamer Piles on Rocks at Spanish Flat, California Coast

EUREKA, Cal., Nov. 22.—Meagre advice reaching here tonight reported the grounding of the coastwise steamer Daisy Putnam in a dense fog ten miles south of Punta Gorda early today. Captain M. C. Yetting and his crew of twenty-one men were declared to have waded ashore and were believed to be making their way to Punta Gorda lighthouse.

The steamer, owned by the Freeman Steamship & Lumber Company, was reported fast on the rocks at Spanish Flat, near the spot where the Indian Harbor was wrecked several years ago.

Word of the wreck was sent to the Punta Gorda lighthouse by Donald Etter, nineteen-year-old youth, whose cabin is located on the beach near Spanish Flat.

Heavily laden with lumber and other cargo, the Daisy Putnam left San Francisco on Thursday afternoon for Portland. Several hours out of San Francisco a dense fog enveloped the coast line, according to Etter's account, and the vessel reduced its speed. During the early hours of today the vessel groped its way along the coast and suddenly struck.

Built at Hoquiam, Wash., in 1913, the Daisy Putnam is a wooden steamer of 885 tons gross and 476 tons net. She is 201 1/2 feet long, 41 feet in beam and 14 feet deep.

Berlin is the cleanest large city in the world. All things that tend to disturb this perfection are forbidden. One is not allowed to throw things upon the sidewalk, nor even the sacred precincts of one's own property, to have disorder or litter of any kind whatsoever. The result is cleanliness and comfort and order.

Idle tonnage at British ports on October 1 totaled 265,000 net tons, as compared with 415,000 net tons on the same date in the previous year. Idle shipping in French ports as of October 15 amounted to 195,000 gross tons, as compared with 151,000 gross tons on the same day of last year.

If you miss your train in Hungary your long wait will be made more in part by the radios which are now installed in the railroad stations. Earphones may be rented for thirty cents an hour.

VESSELS LIKENED TO WOOD COACHES

Finest of Ocean Liners Still as Open as Ever to Hazard of Fire

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The recent fires on board two great liners have set shipbuilders here planning fireproof vessels. It is the old story of wood versus steel, and now the finest steamships occupy the same place as the old wooden coaches in comparison with the modern steel Pullmans.

A tour of the shipping district shows that the fire hazard is a big problem to the builders than speed, and that passengers are beginning to demand fireproof ships. The following protective measures are being considered for new vessels:

Steel partitions and flooring to take the place of the wooden walls between cabins.

Introduction of a new type of wood with asbestos covering, which is said to be past the experimental stage and absolutely fireproof.

Dividing each vessel into a dozen or more sections by fireproof steel bulkheads which can be opened or closed at a moment's notice.

Introduction of automatic fire-fighting devices throughout the ship.

Use of a device whereby the first flicker of fire will set off a general alarm.

Captain C. A. McAllister, of the American Bureau of Shipping, sums up the position as follows:

"The shipbuilders are considering the fire hazard more than ever before, but they still have a long way to go before ships are fireproof. The new vessels are being equipped with steel partitions, which are designed to confine any fire to the section of the ship in which it originated, but even this measure is not made compulsory by our Government. There is no reason, except that of cost, to keep any liner from being fireproof. The navy builds all-steel vessels, and even furniture is steel and aluminum."

Radio fans in Canada cannot enjoy as do Europeans the carillon chimes of the great music towers of Holland and Belgium, but tourists in England and on the continent who "listen in" enjoy "the famous bells of Malines" in Belgium, as they are relayed through Brussels to thousands of places.

Oberammergau is the only town where a Passion Play is acted by the peasants. Within very few hours of Munich or Innsbruck can be found many other villages in the Tyrol which have their own drama, usually when a Sunday is followed by a church festival day.

Winged Man of the North

HERE is shown Mr. Carl Ben Eielson, Alaskan manager of the New York Fur Company, dubbed the "Winged Man of the North," who crossed the Bering Straits in an airplane equipped with skin to take off six of the fifteen people held by the ice for more than two months in their boat off the coast of Siberia, near Cape North. Pilot Dorbandt, the Alaskan Airways, also flew in another plane with Eielson and brought some three hundred pounds of furs out of the six tons on board the Nanuk. According to meagre information reaching Nome on Wednesday, Eielson's plane was reported within sixty miles of the Nanuk. Another report was received to the effect that the inept flyer had crashed near the ice-locked coast.

PLAYHOUSE The struggle of two women—one good—the other bad—for the possession of a man, a weak-willed diplomat. One tried to help him to better things—the other to drag him to the depths of degradation. Which won? CAPITOL Most people use modern means of locomotion for business, and Ken Maynard, star of "Universal's" "The Wagon Master," which closes its run tonight at the Capitol Theatre, reverses the usual order of things. Maynard rides horses in his work, which is the making of rapid-fire Western pictures. For relaxation he uses airplanes.

DOMINION A traitor in the tanks theatre is the hardest kind of opposition to fight, and that was what confronted the officers of the great Emerson Trust Company in New York, and threatened to send them all to prison. The renegade was discovered, but the damage was done, and the Government prosecutor had in his hands the evidence which was necessary to secure conviction. This is a part of "The Gambler," now at the DOMINION Theatre, the remarkable all-talking Vitaphone production, "The Black Watch," showing at the Coliseum Theatre for the last times today, directed by Robert E. V. Taylor, paints a vivid picture of the military oppression that led to the overthrow of Russia's Imperial house by the long-suffering proletariat, with a highly dramatic narrative of suspense, romance and retribution grippingly presented against this striking background.

COLISEUM Quite a long and varied experience on the all-talking Fox Movietone production, "The Black Watch," showing at the Coliseum Theatre for the last times today. Victor McLaglen is featured and John Ford is at his directorial best. The role of the mysterious adventures, who aspire to be queen of all India, is filled by Myrna Loy.

HAROLD LLOYD WILL STAR IN "WELCOME DANGER"

"Help! Help!" That's the first line of dialogue recited by Harold Lloyd for public entertainment. But it goes back nearly twenty-five years, and has nothing to do with his first all-talking picture, "Welcome Danger," at the Dominion Theatre, next week, except that it starts him on a stage career which led up to his connection with motion pictures.

"It was at Beatrice, Neb., in Macbeth, that I first set foot on the stage itself. A Shakespearean repertory company, bridging the gap from Omaha to Denver with one night stands, stopped off for an evening. Such troups always picked up their suppers and children locally. Gaylord, my brother, who was property boy and handy man at the opera house, promptly nominated me to fill in of the breaches."

Northwest Passage Is at Last Made Use Of

THE Baychimo, the Fort Macpherson and the Fort James, three vessels belonging to the Hudson's Bay Co., have succeeded in establishing commercial communication across the Canadian Arctic from Halifax to Vancouver. Only one other boat has ever before navigated the Northwest Passage, it being the little forty-seven-ton sloop in which Roald Amundsen and his party set sail in 1903. The earliest actual attack upon the Arctic route was made in 1607 by Henry Hudson, the English navigator. Four times he vainly tried to locate a Northern route to China, before he finally lost his life as an aftermath of his last vain voyage. There is something appropriate in the fact that the task was finally achieved by the company which perpetuates his name. The illustration shows the Sa. Baychimo at the left. The map indicates the course followed by the boats and the proposed tractor route from Waigat Inlet, to Cockburn Bay, on the western Arctic Ocean. At the upper right is the Sa. Fort James—Copyright by Star Newspaper Service.

"Broadway," Carl Laemmle, Jr.'s production of the sensational New York play hit which comes to the Capitol Theatre on Monday for a week's run. All the musical hits recorded were especially written for the picture, which features Glenn Tryon, Evelyn Brent and Merna Kennedy, supported by a noteworthy cast, including such well-known players as Thomas Jackson, Robert Ellis, Paul Porcasi, Orla Harlan, Marion Lord, and many others.

HEUGHAN TO RETURN HERE ON DECEMBER 7

Music lovers of Victoria are eagerly anticipating the opening of the William Heughan return season in the Shrine Auditorium on December 7. This great and popular Scottish singer has endeavored himself to all lovers of art and music the world over by his inimitable artistry as much as by his rich voice. His programme will include ballads, operatic arias and folk songs, all of which will be interpreted in the style that has made William Heughan one of the most famous singers of the day. From continent to continent his tour has been a record success. If you have heard him you will understand why, and you will want to hear him again. If you have not heard him you are depriving yourself of an unbelievable pleasure. With him as associate artists are Maud Bell the English cellist, and Gladys Sawyer the celebrated pianist, who has toured the whole world with Heughan and has been called "the ideal accompanist."

Will Present "The Only Way" Again in City

"The Only Way," the dramatized version of Dickens' thrilling, adventurous story of an incident of the day "Terror" in France, will be played here at the Royal Victoria Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the last time, in fulfillment of a promise made by Sir John Martin Harvey to present it here again before he retires for good from the role of Sidney Carton. The great English actor has chosen several new plays for his Canadian tour, but has been compelled to go against the gullotine in this, the greatest of his many successes, by the insistent demand from managers along his entire itinerary.

Festival Company Will Appear in Victoria Shortly

The Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Company, whose engagement last season is well remembered, will appear again at the Royal Victoria Theatre for one week beginning on Monday, December 2. The repertory arranged for the engagement is as follows: Monday evening, "Much Ado About Nothing"; Tuesday, "Romeo and Juliet"; Wednesday matinee, "A Midsummer Night's Dream"; Wednesday evening, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Thursday evening, "Hamlet"; Friday matinee, "Macbeth"; Saturday evening, "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The Shakespeare Memorial at Stratford, from which the organization comes, is an institution known to everyone interested in literature and the drama, and many visitors from this side have witnessed the fine performances of the Shakespeare plays that are given there every Spring and Summer. These performances, under the auspices of the Board of Governors, were directed by W. Bridges Adams. In presenting the plays the actors, for clarity, continuity of interest, and pictorial beauty in the matter of scenery, costume and lighting. The company is composed of thirty-five experienced Shakespearean actors, many of whom are prominent figures on the London stage.

Rhoda, A Red-Headed Girl

CHAPTER XVIII
For a long time, Rhoda sat brooding over her father's story; recalling lost memories; piecing the strange fabric together.

But at last, with a start, she sat erect. What should she do when Foster came back to question her further? Stick to the truth, which she wouldn't be able to make him believe? If he were honestly convinced that she was an impostor and a confederate of the Cleveland woman, she was in for a pretty bad time when he came back. If only she'd thought of telephoning to Martin before coming up here.

A glance at her wrist watch showed her that it was half past six. She couldn't be half-past six, could it? That disposed of any possibility of finding him at the paper. Babe Jennings, her house mate, would be at home, though, by now, and she might be able to get word to him. That was the thing to try, anyhow. She picked up the telephone and, speaking as softly as she could, asked for an outside line and gave the studio number. Babe's voice answered almost instantly. She asked if Babe knew where Martin was, and gave a gasp of relief on being told that he was right there in the celebrated plantist who had toured the whole world with Heughan and has been called "the ideal accompanist."

From where she sat in Foster's chair she faced the principal door, the one she had come in by. She was still waiting for Martin's voice to come over the phone when she saw this door being quietly pushed open. The man who came in wasn't Babe, as she'd expected it to be, but Max Lewis. His look of astonishment, when he saw her sitting in his uncle's chair, would have been ludicrous, if it had not been followed so quickly by a stare of anger. "You're here, are you?" he said huskily. He added, "Put up that phone and, snatching the door shut behind her, he bore furiously down upon her to enforce his command. She didn't obey him. She clung to the instrument and tried to say, in the hope that Martin was near behind the door, "I'm at Foster's, the Worcester Hotel." But before her tight throat could utter the words, Max had got the telephone away from her, and one of his hands was over her mouth, his thumb and forefinger pinching her nostrils together so that she couldn't breathe at all.

He held her so until he had placed the telephone the desk. Then he released her, saying as he did so, "You can yell, if you like, but it won't do you any good. In this hotel, if you're talking and a door is shut, the sound is carried to every room, so that she couldn't get up out of the heavy chair. "What I ought to do," he concluded, glowering down upon her, "is to wring your neck."

She loathed him. His bulk oppressed her and some perfume that there was about him made her feel a little sick. That hand, that had pressed her in at Foster's, had been washed with heavily scented soap. The least repulsive thing about him was the obviously genuine rage he was in. And yet, formidable as he was, she didn't know what to do.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle. Into a 16 oz. bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinoc's red and plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make 16 ounces. This gives two-thirds of the remedy. Now I've got a cork and a glass. I'm at Foster's, the Worcester Hotel." But before her tight throat could utter the words, Max had got the telephone away from her, and one of his hands was over her mouth, his thumb and forefinger pinching her nostrils together so that she couldn't breathe at all.

would believe a story like that? Why hadn't he seemed more disappointed that she didn't believe it? Was it possible that he really thought Babe had taken a train to New York?

"When did all this happen?" she asked at last. What time did the train leave?" "Five-thirty, from the Union Station. I've just come from there."

"What did she do? Call you up and ask you to see her off?" "No, I just happened to run across her there."

"So you helped her buy her trunk and then you saw her off on the train? And now you've heard my trunk has been stolen, you think that must be the one you checked?" "Well, it seems queer, her going off like that, without letting you know anything about it. You said you'd lost some money, didn't you? She'd got that, too, if you ask me. She talked as if she had plenty. Said she'd been saving up for this bust for two years."

"Why? Why had she gone to the station? Why, for that matter, had Max gone there himself? Had he meant to go to New York on that train? With her three hundred dollars and her trunk?"

Well, how about Claire? Where did she come in? Or didn't she come in? Had he ditched Claire, or tried to? Whatever Max had tried to do he'd failed. Rhoda remembered how he'd looked when he came into the room. At that moment he had attributed his failure to her as well as to Babe. He'd been wrong about her. But had he been right about Babe? Had Babe really outwitted him and upset his plan?

Max must have seen that he'd startled her and set her thinking. But he totally misjudged the direction of her thoughts. "Beginning to believe me now, are you?" he said. "Well, it's about time."

"I wish you'd tell me," she said, looking at him in as childlike a manner as she could manage, "what the terrible thing was that Babe did to you?" "Never mind about that," he growled at her.

"But I can't help it," she persisted. "It must have been at the very last moment she did it to you, or you wouldn't have been so nice to her—seeing her off on the train, and all."

"Get off it," he shouted. "It's no business of yours. You've got enough to worry about with what she did to you."

"I don't think," she told him cheerfully, "that I've anything to worry about at all. I think she's got my trunk back. You see I was talking to her on the telephone just now, when you came in here."

This proved one dart too many and he came for her; not blindly, either. She perceived before he spoke that he knew what he meant to do with her. He seized her arm with a wrench that made her want to cry out.

"Get out of here!" he said. "I'll make it worth your while to talk to me some other time, if you get out now before my uncle finds you here."

REACTIONARY SIDE OF MARKET GIVEN THE MOST EMPHASIS

(Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Although the overnight news continued constructive, the market today gave more emphasis to the reactionary side, probably a result of profit-taking preparatory to the extended week-end. However, the selling was well received, with prices fluctuating within limited range. The net result for the day showed copper and steel about 2 points off and motor fractionsally so. The rails, oils and utilities noted no substantial changes and neither was there any pronounced variation registered in any of the specialties.

The volume of trade was slightly under that of yesterday. The oil stocks were probably sustained by reports that operators of South Oklahoma City field are planning a curtailment programme to extend into next year.

Of interest also was that the Ford organization was about to enter the steel market in preparation for a new model. With the apparent determination on the part of business leaders to keep business at a high level of activity it would seem that the constructive side of the market is the logical one to look for profits into next year.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Chinese minister in London, Dr. W. Chen, tells amusing stories in perfect English. One that he is fond of relating concerns a well-known society woman who started to patronize a Chinese laundry recently established in Soho.

One day she called in person to lodge a mild complaint, and thinking the owner only knew pidgin English, she tried it on him.

"Mr. no like my washee brought home Friday," she said. "Why you no blingee washee Thursday?"

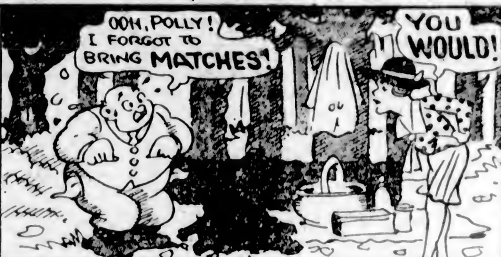

And the suave Chinaman replied: "Madam, I regret it was not convenient."

Making love does not take so long as it used to, according to a woman writer. And it doesn't stay made so long, either.
